

OVATION TO MR. WILSON ANOTHER QUIET NIGHT

Trains and Steamboat Transport Alexandrians to Washington to Greet President.

The citizens of Alexandria, without regard to political affiliation or previous condition, last evening assisted in giving President Wilson an ovation and welcome back to the White House of which any man might be proud. Careful estimates give the number who participated in the general parade in Washington at 15,000 while others say the number was much larger. But it was large enough, and Alexandria city and adjoining territory contributed at least a thousand or more.

Upon the arrival of the parade at the White House grounds President Darr of the Wilson and Marshall Democratic Association made the following brief address to President Wilson on the north portico of the White House:

"Mr. President: In the name of your friends and neighbors of Washington and of the counties of Maryland and Virginia adjoining the Capital, I congratulate you, and extend to you a hearty welcome home."

President Wilson replied as follows: "Please say to the people of Washington, my friends and neighbors, and to my friends in the counties of Maryland and Virginia, that I sincerely appreciate the hearty welcome extended to me tonight."

With the President were Mrs. Wilson, Miss Margaret Wilson, Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo and Mrs. McAdoo, Mrs. William Bolling, mother of Mrs. Wilson, and Col. House, a close personal friend of Mr. Wilson. As the marchers passed amid the strains of a popular march, the President holding his hat in his hand, bowed and smiled.

There were five divisions in the big parade, Alexandria being given a place in the second. The Washington Post of this morning says:

The second division, which composed the second division, was especially strong numerically and had a Virginia, a Maryland and, odd as it may seem, a Missouri section. Alexandria marched strong, the entire population of the neighborhood apparently being in line. They exhibited an elaborate scheme of banners with proud slogans.

As the parade started up the driveway to the White House an aeroplane flew over, dropping exploding bombs as a presidential salute of 21 guns. Then a chorus of 300 voices sang old Virginia melodies as a tribute to both the President and Mrs. Wilson, who are natives of the Old Dominion. Throughout the demonstration there was a display of fireworks in the ellipse back of the White House, colored rockets shooting forth red, blue, green and yellow lights continuously.

With the President and Mrs. Wilson were nearly all the members of the cabinet and their wives. In front of the White House, as at inauguration time, were grand stands filled with some of the highest officials of the government and diplomats. Pennsylvania Avenue between Fifteenth and Seventeenth streets was decorated and designated as a court of honor.

The marchers carried torches and American flags, parading twenty abreast and carrying banners bearing Democratic mottoes; pictures of the President and the Vice President and such slogans as: "Welcome Back Woodrow," "We Want You Four Years More and Now We've Got You," "Peace, Prosperity and Preparedness," "Hurrah for an Eight Hour Day," and "Eight Hours' Pay, Eight Hours' Play, Eight Hours' Day."

Thousands of Spectators. Pennsylvania Avenue was lined with spectators from the Peace monument to Seventeenth street, the sidewalks being packed on each side and windows and other available places being crowded full of people. In one section there were a thousand automobiles draped with flags and banners and carrying torches of colored fire. Banners of various styles and colors, with flags, torches of white lights and red and green fire

No Cases on the Docket of the Police Court During the Past Forty-Eight Hours.

There was no session of the Police Court yesterday, nor was there any today. Notwithstanding the fact that a large percentage of Alexandrians visited Washington last night to take part in the great ovation to President Woodrow Wilson, thus leaving a "dry" town for a "wet" district, there were no disorders, and the visitors, certainly the great mass, returned home as they left.

The trains, densely packed, were arriving in this city until long after midnight. The affair savored more of a Sunday school excursion than that of a political pow wow.

Richmond is also enjoying a tranquil period.

"I have never seen anything like it before," said Chief of Police Louis Werner yesterday afternoon, in referring to the few arrests being made by the Police Department. The chief spoke especially about the report turned in each morning by W. R. Warriner, night desk clerk at headquarters.

This report covers the hours from 7 at night until 7 o'clock next morning. For the past five nights there has been no report offered to the chief the following morning. This means that there have been no complaints of any sort made during the night. Until midnight last night Mr. Warriner had made no entry on his nightly report.

"They can say that there is as much whisky here as formerly," he said, "and I am not saying there isn't, but I am saying that people are not getting drunk now, and they did use to get drunk."

VIRGINIA FOR CHURCH UNION

Southern Methodist Conference Adopts Resolution

Richmond, Va., Nov. 17.—Resolutions expressing the approval of the Virginia Conference of the movement to unite the Northern and Southern branches of the Methodist Episcopal Church and counseling the maintenance of a reasonable and liberal spirit at the meeting of the joint commission of the two churches which will consider plans for union in Baltimore on December 28, were adopted without dissent at the session held in Broad Street Church yesterday.

The Rev. James Cannon, chairman of the committee, presented the resolutions.

The commission, which will meet in Baltimore, consists of 25 men from the Southern church and a like number from the Northern church, the members being appointed by the general conferences of the two churches. Negro Methodists should be organized into a separate church, organically joined to the rest of the denomination, says the resolution, agreeing to the proposal of the last general conference of the Southern Church.

TO SEND GUARDS HOME

Washington, Nov. 17.—Five National Guard regiments were ordered home from the Mexican border yesterday. They are the First Regiment of South Carolina, Seventh New York, Third Indiana, Third Wisconsin, and Third Minnesota.

In a statement announcing the order the War Department said it was in continuation of the policy "announced some time ago to gradually withdraw National Guard regiments from the border as conditions permit and, in accordance with the recommendations of General Funston, these regiments have been ordered home."

War Department officials said the order did not indicate any change in the general withdrawal of National Guard regiments from the border and had relation to the proceedings of the conference at Atlantic City. Approximately 100,000 National Guardsmen will remain on the border in these five regiments, with a strength of about 6,000, have withdrawn. The regiments will be home as soon as transportation facilities will permit and all probably be at their State muster point by Thanksgiving.

Alexandria City and Suburbs

It is time to begin to shop early and to patronize Gazette advertisers. The holiday season will soon be here.

Mrs. Mollie Miller is the guest of Mrs. J. E. Beals, at her home in Hamilton, Loudoun county.

Mr. and Mrs. Lynn O'Neil are the guests of Mrs. Dennis O'Neil at her home in Manassas.

When you start out to do your Christmas shopping remember to make your purchases of those who advertise. A glance at the Gazette columns will show you the list of Alexandria's enterprising merchants.

An engagement of interest to this section of the state is that just announced by Colonel Chiswell Dabney Langhorne, of "Misfit", Albemarle county, of his granddaughter, Miss Nancy Keene Perkins, to Mr. Henry Field, of Chicago. Miss Perkins is the eldest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Moncure Perkins, of Richmond, and has made her home with her grandfather since the death of her parents several years ago. Miss Perkins and her cousin, Miss Irene Langhorne Gibson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dana Gibson, of New York, made their formal debut last Thanksgiving in Richmond and later in New York. Miss Gibson was married last spring to Mr. George Post, of Boston. Mr. Field is the son of the late Marshall Field.

There are fifteen answers to advertisers waiting to be called for at this office. They are replies to advertisements appearing in the Gazette. Ten are for Traveler, three for Grocery Clerk, one for Box 1, and one for A. B. Gazette. And yet if an advertising solicitor were to go in to some business place in town where the proprietor and clerks were sitting around waiting for customers and speak to them about advertising they would probably tell you that advertising doesn't pay. Some people make you smile.

PANIC ABOARD CAR.

Passengers Jump From Windows When Short Circuit Causes Flash.

Short circuiting of the current on a car of the Washington, Alexandria and Mount Vernon line last night at 8 o'clock, when the car, packed with passengers from Alexandria and other Virginia points, reached Thirtieth and D streets northwest Washington started a blaze that for some moments caused intense excitement among the passengers, some of whom jumped from the windows, thinking the interior of the car was afire or electrified. None of the startled passengers were injured.

When the car was turning the curve at that point there was a sudden, blinding flash, and instantly the vehicle was in darkness, while the cracking was heard and the interior became filled with smoke. A number of passengers threw up the windows and jumped. A man who went through one of the windows said afterward that, believing the inside of the car was electrified, he got out as quickly as possible. Many women and children in the car had made the trip to Washington to witness the big parade or participate therein.

An alarm of fire was turned in, summoning the downtown section of the fire department. The engines did not have to go into service, however, as the railway employees quickly adjusted the trouble.

WANTS $55,000 FOR MISSIONS.

Norfolk, Nov. 17.—Sixty-five thousand dollars was the amount for home missions requested of the Virginia Baptist General Association, in session last night at the First Baptist Church, by Rev. R. D. Garland, secretary of the State mission board. Mr. Garland declared the board could not begin to do the work properly with less than this amount, that at least five additional missionaries for work among the foreigners of the State were needed, as well as money for the conduct of the mountain school in Buchanan county. Rev. M. James, of Crewe, and Rev. F. C. Morowski, of Richmond, told of the three State missionaries, two of their work and of need for more men in the field.

Miss Margaret Emerson, of Rosemont, left today to spend the weekend with her father, Mr. Victor Lee Emerson, in Philadelphia.

There was a cottage prayer meeting yesterday morning at the residence of Mrs. Walter Padgett, 212 north Fairfax street, Mrs. Mansfield was the leader.

Officer Reid today arrested James Benson and Edward Johnson both colored, employees of the Southern Railway Company, on the charge of larceny. Benson had a bag of apples alleged to have been taken from a car, and Johnson is charged with stealing brasses, carrying them away in a bag and selling them to a junk dealer for $3.70. They will be brought before the Police Court tomorrow morning.

In the Circuit Court for the city today most of the day was consumed in trying the case of Louis Glassman vs. the Potomac and Chesapeake Telephone Company, a suit for damages. Glassman alleged a horse attached to a buggy belonging to him was frightened by a cart belonging to the defendant company which was being used in repairing the telephone line, which caused the smashing of the buggy. A verdict for the defendant was returned.

ANOTHER LABOR STRUGGLE

National Industrial Conference Board Formed.

Washington, Nov. 17.—Capital and labor were brought face to face with what possibly may be the greatest struggle in history of the nation by developments on both sides yesterday in the contest over the Adamson eight-hour law.

Indications were last night that the threatened strike of railway employees may be only one feature of the battle. The American Federation of Labor is making plans to espouse the cause of the railway trainmen and to make the eight-hour law universal in its application to all forms of labor. The National Founders' Association, representing 15,000 employers of labor offered its support to the railroads in their fight in the courts on the Adamson measure.

New York, Nov. 17.—Support of the railroads of the country in their fight in the courts against the Adamson eight-hour-day law was offered yesterday by the National Founders' Association at the closing session of its convention at the Hotel Astor.

At Wednesday's session of the association the formation of a national industrial conference board, representing 15,000 employers, to oppose activities of labor unions which they regard as inimical was announced.

Most of the twenty-four members of this board discussed plans all day yesterday.

The scope of the board will be very wide. It will watch all legislation, and the activities of such labor organizations as the American Federation of Labor. It will combat anything that seems unreasonable or unjustifiable in law and equity. It might, for instance, it was said, contest the provisions of the Clayton anti-trust law, exempting labor unions from treatment like corporations.

New York, Nov. 17.—George H. Sines, vice-president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, in a statement made here yesterday said a railroad strike was a remote possibility, no matter what happened to the Adamson Eight-Hour law. The brotherhood leaders, he declared, had not even considered calling a strike as an answer to the injunction proceedings by the railroads.

"I don't think there is anything in the constitution of any of the brotherhoods allowing a strike during injunction proceedings," said Mr. Sines. "If the Supreme Court decides the Adamson law is unconstitutional the brotherhoods will be right back where they were before the law was passed."

"I doubt if the court decision would revivify the strike vote taken by the brotherhoods. In all probability, although I cannot say for a certainty that it is so, the unions would have to take a new vote on a strike."

SUDDEN DEATH

Highly Esteemed Resident Stricken Down This Morning

Mrs. Lavinia Pattison Perry, died about 8:30 o'clock this morning at her home on Braddock Heights, from the effects of a paralytic stroke. Mrs. Perry had not been in good health for several years. About three years ago she was paralyzed and for nearly a year afterwards was unable to go out very frequently, but recently had been in far better health and had been out within the week.

She was the wife of Mr. James Laurence Perry, cashier of the Alexandria National Bank, the only daughter of Mrs. Anna Pattison and the late Governor Robert E. Pattison, of Pennsylvania, and a sister of Mr. Robert E. Pattison, of Philadelphia.

Mr. Perry left his home at the usual time this morning, to go to the bank, and Mrs. Perry was only slightly complaining, but he was summoned home in less than a half hour by a message that his wife was ill. He was accompanied home by a physician but life was extinct when they reached his wife's bedside.

Mrs. Perry's death comes as a shock to the community. She was a devoted wife and mother, and her friends sincerely sympathize with her husband and mother in their deep affliction.

IMPORTANT DECISION SUBMARINE RAMS TUG

Supreme Court of Appeals Rules Evidence of Credit Have No Status of Taxation.

Deciding squarely against the contention of Attorney-General John Garland Pollard, the Supreme Court of Appeals yesterday held that bonds or notes, evidences of credit in the hands of a nonresident, arising from business transactions in this state and secured by trust deeds on lands in Virginia, have no situs of taxation here, unless such documents may be assessed at the holder's business domicile in this State or at that of his authorized agent or representative.

The opinion of the court was rendered by Judge Richard H. Cardwell, the retiring chief justice, and was a reversal of the Circuit Court of Page county, which dismissed the application of J. V. Jamison, a resident of Hagerstown, Md., petitioning for relief from taxes assessed by the examiner of records for the circuit on bonds amounting in the aggregate to $36,650 and secured by deeds of trust on certain lands situated in Page county.

Jamison was conceded without the jurisdiction of the State. The bonds were not held in Virginia, but were in the hands of Jamison in Maryland. He paid taxes on them in that State. There was no business domicile used by the holder in Virginia, nor was it established that he had ever employed a legal representative in this State. Jamison, personally collected money due on notes he held, and purchased the bonds without the assistance of an agent.

The Attorney-General, in his argument before the court, held that the test of the State's right to tax these evidences of credit was not their presence in Virginia, not the jurisdiction over the person of the owner, nor the intervention of an agent, but the localization of the business from which they arise. It was contended that Jamison was not a casual investor in Virginia property, but conducted a regularly constituted business in this State.

Against this contention the court ruled that "certainly it cannot be argued that because Jamison had many loans in Page county, the evidences of the loans, which are the subject of this controversy, are assessable for taxation in Page county by reason of the debtors having their residence in the county, or because the land which is security for the bonds or notes is situated in Page county, since the statute, instead of so providing, expressly stipulates that such bonds or notes are assessable, if at all, at the business domicile of such nonresident in this State."

It seems clear to us from the reading of the statute as a whole that, so far as applicable in this case, its meaning is that where a nonresident person or corporation comes into Virginia, it establishes a place of business to buy bonds or notes and thus loan money and have obligations due arising from that business he is to be taxed upon such obligations just as a citizen of Virginia engaged in a like business is taxed, the tax thereon to be assessed at the business domicile of such nonresident persons or corporation or its agent or representative.

"We take it for granted that it would not be contended that, if a nonresident were to come into a broker's office or elsewhere in this State and invest his money in a chosen action of any character as a loan, and do this repeatedly, he was engaged in business in the city or county where he made the investment or investments, within the meaning of the statute here under consideration."

The court pointed out that, in the case cited by Mr. Pollard in support of his contention, the transactions referred to were conducted within the State by agents of the creditor on the latter's behalf, and called attention to the case of the Commonwealth vs. the United Cigarette Machine Company, a foreign corporation, which was taxed because it had its credits in the company's office at Dumfries, Campbell county.

The opinion closed with this citation from a court ruling: "Laws imposing a license or a tax are strictly construed, and whenever there is a Deutschland Cuts Boat in Two and Drowns Five of Her Crew Early Today.

New London, Nov. 17.—An attempted dash to sea by the German merchant submarine Deutschland ended early today in a collision between the super-submersible and an escorting tug in which Captain Gurney and four members of the tug's crew were drowned.

The Deutschland, bound for Bremen, put back to port immediately after the collision and by 5 o'clock this morning was again wrapped into her pier. She once more shielded by the liner Willehad, her "mother ship" and the big steel net was swung into place to further guard her.

Work was immediately begun by a small army of workmen to learn the extent of the submersible's damage as a result of her second collision during the present trip. She smashed into a pier when she made her start from Bremen, and was held up ten days for repairs.

The collision this morning occurred in the treacherous stretch of water between Fishers and Little Gull islands, known as The Race. The water is 250 feet deep. A strong current, sucked landward and seaward through the narrow stretch at the mouth of Long Island Sound, makes it one of the danger points in that vicinity.

The tug T. A. Scott, Jr., is said to have attempted to cross the Deutschland's bows while the Scott boats and the tug Cassie, acting as rear guard for the submarine, were steaming along at twelve knots an hour.

There was a splitting crash as a great hole was torn in the Scott's side. She broke in two and sank within three minutes. The crew had no chance to reach the lifeboats. Captain Gurney, in the wheel house, is believed to have been crushed to death.

The four sailors who went down with Gurney were all below deck, trapped like rats.

Captain Hinkel, of the Eastern Forwarding Company, which owns the Deutschland, was aboard the Scott, and was thrown into the water. Sailors from the Deutschland leaped overboard and dragged him on the submersible. He was nearly dead from shock and cold.

Since the Deutschland came back here under her own steam, it is not believed she sustained any serious damage. Hurried examination led Eastern Forwarding Company officials to believe she would be ready for sea again in a few days at the most.

The Deutschland was running on the surface at the time of the accident. While there was no heavy sea, the current, according to the Cassie's crew, was unusually strong. Because of this and the inky darkness, the Deutschland's lookout did not see the Scott quick enough to sound an alarm.

All lights that had not been extinguished were shaded in order to make escape for the Deutschland easier. This added to the difficulty in keeping the distance between the boats.

The Race is about five miles due south of the Thames mouth.

GERMAN WARSHIP SUNK.

London, Nov. 17.—A dispatch to Reuter's Telegram Company from Petrograd says:

"The admiralty staff has issued a communication announcing that, in accordance with the latest information of the recent German naval attack in the Gulf of Finland, and comparing the number of explosions heard in the fog with the reports from the Russian warships engaged, it is possible to affirm that the Germans lost between six and nine torpedobombs."

"This supposition," the communication adds, "is confirmed by the examination of wreckage, which also shows that the destroyed vessels were of the modern type and the biggest vessels in this class."

doubt as to the meaning or scope of such laws they are construed more strongly against the government and in favor of the citizen."

ALEXANDRIANS IN LINE

While Charles E. Hughes still refuses to send a telegram of congratulation to Woodrow Wilson upon the occasion of the latter's re-election to the exalted position of chief magistrate of the nation a great ovation was given the victor in Washington last night when the capital of the nation was "painted red."
Pennsylvania Avenue was for hours densely packed with young and old, male and female, all anxious to greet his excellency and all rejoicing that the country is to have four more years of the beneficent rule of a man proclaimed throughout the land as the best chief executive since Lincoln.

Representatives of every section of the union mingled in the great cortege, and there was continuous joy in the air. Descriptions of the festive scenes will be found elsewhere in the Gazette, hence it is not our purpose to repeat them here. Suffice it to say that all realized that it was good for them to have been there. It is good for us all to have our patriotism stirred at times. Pro Deo et Pro Patria is a sentiment which should never be allowed to become dormant, and occasions like that of last night
appeals to all true Americans.

Our purpose is to call attention to what everybody knows and what everybody expresses. Alexandria made a fine showing in the procession. Our city and our state had made a fine showing in the election this month by casting its large majority in favor of Mr. Wilson succeeding himself, as he did also in the case of her Senator and Congressmen.

Early in the night people of this city began to crowd the electric trains and "extras" had to be run for their accommodation. The Mount Vernon steamer Charles Macalester appeared about seven o'clock at the foot of Cameron street for the purpose of giving the Alexandrians a trip on the water to the capital city. The steamer had been chartered by Hon. C. C.
Carlin, our Representative in Congress, and all were welcomed to take a free ride to Washington and return.
No tickets were required; the fact that you were an Alexandrian was all the credential required.

The crowd embraced city officials,
social organizations, Alexandria firemen; in short, representatives of all classes and all eager to take part in doing honor to the great Virginian
now occupying the White House.

The Alexandrians, after having experienced the gala night of their lives returned full of enthusiasm. It was nearly two o'clock this morning before all were back in their homes.
While conditions were frigid, the Alexandrians seemed to have lost sight of that fact altogether in their exultation of the fact that Mr. Wilson is to remain in charge of the ship of state during the next four years.

"WHY YOUNG MEN GO WRONG"

The headline of this article will be the theme of W. E. Edgin, of Washington, in the Young People's Building tonight, at 8 o'clock. The delivery of this address in the wake of the recent revival in Alexandria is opportune, and Mr. Edgin should be greeted with a large audience.

The young should receive all the attention possible, for according to an old proverb, "As the twig is bent the tree is inclined." Guy Smith in one of his discourses in this city told of instances where young people, in the hour of death, had placed the blame of their undoing upon those whose duty it was to place them in the proper avenues of life and set them an example. It is terrible to think that some offspring may rise up in the judgment and condemn their own parents.

There are pitfalls for the young and many there be who fall into them. The association of questionable characters, friends to whom you

while they are still in knee pants, are a part of the procedure which leads many to grief.

All parents in the city should endeavor to induce those for whom they are responsible to listen to the speaker's remarks tonight. They will be punctuated with many pathetic illustrations, and those who may hear him will carry away much upon which to ponder.

There would be no need of curfew laws if boys kept away from evil companions and bad men. But, unfortunately, some are thoughtless enough to enjoy the companionship of the social outcasts of this world. Too many obtaining their majority follow in the footsteps of the prodigal son, and spend their means with women of bankrupt character. Like this historic youth, when their associates have extracted the last penny from them they are forced to return to their fathers' homes poorer but not always wiser.

Over fifty years ago a bounty jumper was standing beside his coffin in a field on the northwestern environs of Alexandria. A squad of soldiers was standing ready to send a dozen balls into him. The officer asked the unfortunate man if he had anything to say. His words were few, and would have made about two inches space in this column. "Look at me," he said, "Lewd women have brought me to this." A terrible lesson right at our own door.

THANKSGIVING DAY

President Wilson has designated Thursday, the 30th day of the present month, as a day of Thanksgiving and prayer throughout the United States.

We always have much for which to be thankful, but at this time our blessings are overflowing. We are enjoying peace and prosperity and immunity from the distress which prevails elsewhere. A cotemporary in referring to the President's proclamation truly says:

We have a great deal to be thankful for. The vote for President Wilson was largely a Thanksgiving vote.
We ought to be very happy that we are Americans—that we are not Belgium held in chains, not France drenched in blood, not Germany and Austria fighting for life, not Poland ravished and starving, not Serbia laid waste by plague and sword, not Rumania trembling at the threat of a similar fate, not even England mourning for hundreds of thousands of her sons who shall never return.
Thanksgiving is essentially an American day, a day which recognizes no difference in creed or party, a day on which the country should be reunited as one big family.

ENDORSED BY THE CLERGY

The Ministers conference of Alexandria has decided to heartily endorse the recommendation made by the police commissioners, requesting the Common Council to enact a cur-few law for the city, and this morning asked that the Gazette also advocate such action to the fullest extent.

The position taken in the matter
by the Gazette was clearly stated in an editorial which appeared in yesterday's edition, and the editor is gratified to know that it meets with the approval and endorsement of the clergymen of the city.

There should be no hesitancy on the part of the city fathers in placing an ordinance of the character referred to upon the statute books at the earliest possible opportunity, and we feel confident that it will be done.
As stated yesterday, the law cannot do harm to anyone, and it might prove of great benefit to a large number.

WORTH TEN TIMES THEIR COST

Said a well known business man of the city this morning, addressing the editor of the Gazette: "You can tell the readers of the Gazette that you know of one man in the city who says those revival services which you spoke of in your editorial yesterday were worth ten times what they cost."

Continuing the conversation the gentleman related the experience of a relative whose life has been changed and made better as a result of the good influences which were brought to bear upon him through attendance at the revival services.
There are doubtless many other similar instances that might be cited if need be.

State and sane in another. In both cases heard separately, the court possession of valuable property. Attorneys for Chaloner argued that the New York sanity proceedings were wrongly alleged Chaloner was sane at New York and incarcerated at Bloomington. In Gasquet's case his counsel contended that he was declared sane by a Tennessee jury, and that the decree should annul an insanity proceeding in Louisiana, where Gasquet has property estimated at $200,- 000.

The Rev. R. K. Southerland, financial agent and instructor in Emory and Henry College the historic Methodist school at Emory, died suddenly Wednesday night. It was the third sudden death at that institution in 10 days. J. C. Emmett, of Knoxville, Tenn., a student for the ministry was the first. He died while hurrying to catch a train. William Perry, an instructor in the institution was the second, having succumbed to heart disease. Dr. Southerland was 50 years old and is survived by his widow and four sons. For 25 years he had been active as a minister and educator in Holston Conference.

Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo has formally approved the purchase of the Richmond Postoffice. The price agreed on is $450,000. The property adjoins the present Federal Building at Richmond and a postal annex will be erected upon it as soon as Congress appropriates the money. The sale was condemned, the condemnation jury fixing the value at $462,800.
The $12,800 difference was raised by private subscription in Richmond and paid to the owners, who then agreed to sell to the Government at $450,000.

VIRGINIA NEWS

Paragraphs Picked Up Here and There Through the State.

Norfolk has formerly made her bid for the proposed naval aviation station. A delegation of business men headed by Senator Swanson and Representative Holland, at a conference with Secretary Daniels and a board of naval experts, offered the old Jamestown Exposition site and the Pine Beach property, comprising 450 acres, to the Government for $1,500,000. By reclaiming the water front, the property is capable of extension into 1,000 acres. If the property is acquired, the Navy Department proposes to establish on it St. Helena's Training Station and a general naval supply depot as well as an aviation station. The Jamestown site fronts on Hampton Roads. During and since the exposition improvements valued at $1,650,000 have been made on the property.

Bowie Falconer, the 10 year old daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Horace S. Falconer, was killed yesterday evening by her boy playmate, Melville Hutchinson, aged 10 years at Fairmont, W. Va. The lad had been given recently at .22 calibre rifle, and, while playing with the weapon it was accidentally discharged. The bullet pierced the girl's heart and she fell dead at his feet. The accident occurred in the yard of the Hutchinson home. The boy is a son of Melville L. Hutchinson, a coal operator of Fairmont. Dr. Falconer formerly lived at Bedford City, where his parents still reside.

Dewey Bateman, 15 years old, son of James Bateman, of Island Ford, Rockingham county, shot himself accidentally Wednesday while hunting and is in a critical condition. The boy was stepping into a boat when his gun was discharged, the load tearing through his hand and wrist and entering his abdomen. The boy's mother heard the report of the gun, and running to the river, found the boy lying on the bank.

Dr. W. S. Whitmore, former city physician of Staunton, accidentally was shot yesterday afternoon by City Physician Fred S. Hamlin while the men were bird hunting near town. The charge struck Dr. Whitmore in the calf of his left leg, inflicting a bad wound. He was brought to a hospital and an operation performed. It is not believed he was seriously injured, although he was shot at close range.

Chris Ley, 19 years old, of South Richmond, died last night in the Virginia Hospital, the result of wounds which he received on the night of October 31, Halloween night. Shellie Riddick, also of South Richmond, is charged with stabbing Ley.

On the three hundredth anniversary of the death of Pocahontas, next month, the Pocahontas Memorial Association will unveil a $10,000 statue of the famous Indian heroine of Jamestown Island.

Two British merchant vessels, each armed, were held up yesterday at Norfolk, by customs authorities until their cases can be passed on by the State Department at Washington. The steamer Tonowanda, Benkenhead to New Orleans, with crew, 12, has a 12-pound gun mounted on her poop. She was scheduled to leave Wednesday, but officials refused clearance papers. The steamer Rimutaka, Junedin, N. Z., to Plymouth, with passengers and a cargo valued at $1,000,000, has a 4.7-inch gun mounted on her poop house and carries fifty rounds of ammunition. Treasury Department officials stated that clearance papers were being refused the vessels because they desired to go on a coastwise voyage. They will have to remove their guns before getting passports for a coastwise trip.

DEUTSCHLAND DEPARTS

German Submarine Slips Out of New London at Early Hour Today.

New London, Conn., Nov. 17.—The Deutschland, the German submarine which arrived here on November 1, slipped out of the harbor at an early hour today bound for Bremen. She left her pocket at the State pier at 1:30 o'clock, and was towed down the harbor by two tugs.

Capt. E. Hirsch and other officials of the Eastern Forwarding Company were on one of the tugs. A launch with newspaper men followed the submersible down the Thames River to the mouth of the harbor.

The Deutschland passed the United States cruiser Columbia in the lower harbor at 1:45 o'clock. Several passing steamers and the Columbia turned their searchlights on the boat and blew their whistles.

While the manifest of the Deutschland's cargo has not yet been made public it is estimated that its approximate value is over $2,000,000. The cargo consists largely of crude rubber, nickel, zinc and silver bars.

She also carries several sacks of mail from the German embassy at Washington. Some of the mail was said to be for the German emperor.

The Deutschland arrived in New London on November 1, for her second trip to this country. Her first record-making voyage was to Baltimore last summer. On her trip here the craft brought a cargo estimated at $10,000,000. The freight was composed of dyestuffs, chemicals and medicines besides securities and bonds.

Iron ballast, weighing 120 tons brought over on the Deutschland is to be converted into "Deutschland iron men" to be sold as souvenirs for the benefit of German widows and orphans of the war. The souvenirs will be a little smaller than an American silver dollar, and they will bear impressions in relief showing the Deutschland and Capt. Koenig's signature. It is said that some of the metal came from European battlefields.

NO PEACE UNTIL 1920

All Belligerents Now Making Preparations for Years of Terrible Struggle.

Amsterdam, Nov. 17.—All the warring nations of Europe are preparing for many more years of conflict. Predictions are now being made that there will be no peace before 1920.

Dispatches received here from Germany, Austria, England, France and Russia tell of the most tremendous preparations for years of struggle. The allied nations are following the lead of the central powers in placing food upon a basis of scientific distribution.

Now Germany has taken another step in her system of asperorganization by extending government control to all nonmilitary service. This brings a centralization of effort which makes every man, woman and child in the empire a unit in the gigantic organization whose industrial and military efficiency has withstood the shocks of the ten nations arrayed against the German allies.

It is expected that the allied countries also will make forward steps along the lines of the German idea by extending compulsion to industrial work.

NEWS OF THE DAY

The first definite step to place the American flag over a merchant marine of the first rank in all the seas of the world was taken yesterday in New York. This step was the purchasing of the New York Shipbuilding Company, of Camden, N. J., by the International Mercantile Marine Co., the International Corporation, the Pacific Mail Steamship Company and W. R. Grace and Company. The deal involved about $15,000,000.

Thirty-dollar shoes were predicted by shoe and leather men at their annual meeting yesterday at Boston, Alfred W. Donovan, a large shoe manufacturer, said that if buyers demand shoes of all leather they will have to pay high for them soon. He predicted that within three months the majority of women's shoes will have to have cloth tops. He said: "Calves should not be killed in this country for the next year. A calf skin will only furnish leather enough for four pairs of shoe uppers, whereas a full grown hide will make uppers for many pairs of shoes."

Monastir, the main Bulgarian base in Macedonia and pivotal point for the entire Bulgaro-Turkish lines guarding the Orient Railway from the south, is in the steel clasp of the Franco-Serbian army and is expected to fall within 48 hours. The last powerful ring of defenses, built and improved upon by the acme of technical skill every hour of every day of a whole year, was battered down yesterday like so much rubbish, by the French "seventy-fives" and occupied by French and Serbian troops in a sudden resumption of the "big push." The Cerna bend is cleared of Bulgars and Germans and the river's natural defense qualities are definitely lost to them. The defenders are retreating headlong upon Monastir. The pursuers are less than four miles away. Ten villages, each a veritable fortress, one town and a fortified monastery fell to the allies during the last 24 hours.

Yesterday's official war bulletins from Berlin, Petrograd and Bucharest show that Gen. von Falkenhayn's offensive against northwestern Rumania continues favorably for the Teutons. Driving the Rumanians before them along the roads leading southward through Rothermund and Saurduk passes into the interior of the hard pressed Balkan kingdom, the Austro-German forces under the former chief of staff again captured five officers and 1,200 men during the past 24 hours.

All of the American troops along the Mexican border will have turkey for Thanksgiving dinner. In addition, they will have mashed potatoes, candied sweet potatoes, cranberries, ice cream and several different kinds of pie. There are upward of 150,000 troops at the border. Orders were sent from the War Department yesterday for the various organization quartermasters to prepare for the feast.

An unidentified man who is said to have had a package of gunpowder and a quantity of acid in his possession was captured yesterday inside the stockade which is the berth of the German submarine Deutschland at New London, Conn. An effort was made by the people connected with the blockade runner to suppress the details, and some of them are inclined to deprecate the incident, but others believe firmly that by the capture of the unknown an attempt to damage or destroy the boat was frustrated.

Two murders and a riot of more than 300 persons who attempted to lynch a prisoner suspected of the slaying spread a reign of terror through the suburbs of Wyandotte, Mich., early yesterday. Harry Paul, 23, and Morris Harris, 22, both were shot down from ambush as they left their fruit store. Soon after three hundred citizens stormed the jail and demanded that Samuel Gianola, a suspect, be surrendered to them. They were driven away after considerable trouble.

Detectives smashed their way into an eloquent domestic tragedy yesterday by breaking down the doors at 434 Monroe Ave., Detroit—the home of Richard Carparotta. On the floor lay the bodies of Mrs. Caparotta, a 36 year old bride, and Petro Damore, 22. The bodies were partially disrobed and the room bore evidences of a terrific struggle. Both had been shot to death. The police are searching for the girl's husband.

"Mother" Jones, labor agitator, yesterday afternoon stood on the White House steps and began a political discussion. "It was a great victory we won," she said. She called to see President Wilson to congratulate him upon his re-election, but the President was otherwise engaged.

Henry Sienkiewicz, Polish novelist, best known in the United States as the author of "Quo Vadis," is dead at Vevay, Switzerland. He visited the United States last in 1887. His home was in Warsaw.

President Wilson's Thanksgiving turkey will come from Oklahoma instead of Kentucky this year. A 25-pound bird, the finest that could be found in the State, yesterday was shipped to the White House by George H. Blicke, a Lawton hotel man.

William Brown, 35 years old, walked out on the railroad bridge over Chester Creek, at Rockdale, Pa., Wednesday and dived 50 feet to the rocky bed of the stream. His head was crushed in and he was almost instantly killed.

An explosion several days ago aboard the Russian ammunition ship Baron Brecken, at Archangel, caused the death of 150 and the injury of 600 others.

James Grant, a negro charged with slaying a white man to death with a razor, was yesterday taken from the jail at Melville, La., and hanged to a trestle by a mob of 20 men.

A splinter from a washtub which made only a scratch on her wrist a week ago, carried with it death for Mrs. Harvey R. Eidel, a young woman of Potstown, Pa., with six children.

TANLAC RESTORES LADY'S HEALTH

Had About Given up Hopes When She Decided to Give the Remedy a Trial.

The following statement, which is one of the thousands, which proves beyond doubt the merit of "The National Tonic," Tanlac, was made by Mrs. D. D. Childress of 306, 27th Street, Norfolk Va., whose wife suffered from nervous prostration and a general breakdown condition, he said:

"She suffered from nervous prostration and general breakdown. I read of the great benefit others had gotten from Tanlac. Her relief through the use of Tanlac was as follows: Her nerves are alright and says she feels fine in every way. I recommend Tanlac because my wife had been treated in several hospitals and we had about given up hope until we used Tanlac. She is now restored to good health entirely and glad to recommend this new medicine to anyone desiring to know about it."

If you are a sufferer from stomach, kidney or liver trouble you can very wisely give this remarkable medicine a trial, which is now on sale at Leadbeater Drug Corporation, Alexandria and G. T. Mankin and Co., Falls Church.

Which costs most—painting or waiting?

After your house needs painting, every year you wait it will require more paint and more labor to put it in good condition. And every year you wait, your house is worth less. A little paint-money is good paint-insurance.

OVATION TO MR. WILSON.

(Continued from First Page) for a distance of seventeen blocks presented a scene which Washington or any other city has not seen before in years.

The Women in Evidence

Included among the paraders were the Women's Wilson Union which made a most creditable showing. They had an American Beauty float in which were a score or more of real live American beauties—some of Washington's handsomest young ladies. Another attractive delegation was a body of lady horseback riders who represented the western women voters.

Still another picturesque feature was a delegation of 400 boys from the Washington city schools, each bearing a streamer, all being arranged to represent an American flag.

And Miss Joseph Seal, of Lackawanna, New York state, attired in the style of the colonial grand dame, with hoop skirt, curls, spectacles and bewitching smiles for all. She, too, was a feature.

Space forbids further mention in detail of the splendid pageant. It was a credit to all participating.

Dr. Wm. M. Smith, chief marshal of the Alexandria division, expressed himself this morning as highly gratified with the splendid showing made by Alexandria's citizens and the fine appearance made by them in the parade. He requested the Gazette to publicly thank for him all those who assisted in any way in making the affair so successful, and especially wishes to remember the various chairmen and members of the committees who rendered most efficient aid, in taking care of the multitude of details in connection with the trip. All the plans were carried out with excellent satisfaction and credit to everybody.

Alexandria Cadets and Indian Guard Band.

The Gazette desires to pay what it feels is a deserved compliment to the Alexandria High school cadets and the Indian Guard band. The appearance of both organizations in the parade was highly creditable and elicited many commendations of praise on all sides.

Another division that should not be forgotten was that from Alexandria and Fairfax counties. Those people never start anything they don't finish—and finish it well. Last night was no exception.

The Gazette is proud of Virginia's part in the splendid welcome given to the President.

The parade was formed on Washington street as per plan outlined in yesterday's Gazette, and led by Chief Marshal Dr. Wm. M. Smith and aids marched down King to Lee to the steamer Charles Macalester at the Cameron street wharf. The steamer left at 1:05 and returned from Washington at 11:30, schedule time.

WILL NOT ADMIT DEFEAT

Telegram of Congratulation will not Be Sent Yet.

New York, Nov. 17.—Although the official count of votes in California is nearly completed, without any material change in President Wilson's plurality of more than 3,000, Charles E. Hughes and Chairman Wilcox, of the Republican national committee, still refuse to admit defeat.

still refuse to admit defeat.

The chairman went even further and intimated that an official announcement might not be considered as final. He would not agree to be bound in advance by the result, and the long delayed telegram of congratulation from Hughes to Wilcox will not be sent just yet.

Mr. Wilcox talked much in a vague manner about frauds, recounts and investigations, but could not be pinned down to any definite declaration. He exhibited a stack of telegrams containing demands for a recount but none of them from any person in a responsible position.

Republican committee managers in California have not yet made charges. The chairman said his course of future action would be governed largely by the report after the count was finished.

California's vote will be sufficient to insure President Wilson's election, regardless of the result in Minnesota.

Mr. Hughes and Mr. Wilcox will go to Lakewood Saturday.

Fire yesterday which threatened a square in the business section of Norfolk was subdued with a loss of about $50,000. The firemen fought in a 30-mile gale and freezing cold.

The Baptist General Association of Virginia yesterday at the meeting in Norfolk adopted a paper protesting against the action of Gen. Funston, in command of the Mexican border, who is alleged to have sent word to the Rev. J. B. Gambrell, representing the Texas Baptist State board, who applied for permission to conduct religious services among the soldiers, that he could do so, but must not tell them they were "lost sinners."

SPENT FORTUNE TO TRAIN ORPHANS

Washington Teacher Aided Those Who Sought Education.

LIVED MODESTLY TO DO ACT

Used Income of High School Instructor in Moderate Manner, and With Money He Earned by Writing He Was Able to Educate Eighteen Students.

Everett, Wash.—F. D. Mack, teacher in the Central school, has spent about $40,000 in educating eighteen students, seventeen boys and one girl, during the last sixteen years, according to a story he reluctantly told a newspaper representative.

Living on his school salary in a modest way both in Minnesota, his former home, and in Washington, he has earned the money to send students through universities by writing short stories and magazine articles. He has paid out between $2,000 and $3,000 on each of his "children."

Some of the youngsters were orphans, and some had one parent, but all were eager to learn and were handicapped by lack of money.

The thirteen boys who are alive are all actively engaged in the professions in which Mr. Mack has educated them. Two are druggists, one being in St. Paul and the other in Los Angeles. Two are instructors in the University of Minnesota, where they were graduated. One teaches mathematics, and the other is an instructor in German.

This latter young man plans to be a physician and in 1914 married a girl who wished to go to Germany to get her master's degree, so he and his bride sailed for Germany to continue their studies, only to be turned back by the beginning of the war.

Mr. Mack sent him through Normal school, the University of Minnesota and Harvard, where he received his master's degree.

A young man who chose to be a broker received his education at the University of Illinois. He started out to be an architect, but changed his mind and took a commercial course. He was graduated four years ago and is now in Minneapolis engaged in the lumber brokerage business. He is the best money maker of the "family." In his four years out of college he has made $40,000.

A mining engineer who was educated at the University of Minnesota is now working in a mine at Butte, Mont. The banker received a thorough commercial education, and then Mr. Mack set him up in business in a bank in Elgin, N. D. Mr. Mack says that if any of his boys wants to start in business he always gives them enough money to begin. He recently bought an eighty-acre farm for one of them.

A dentist lives in Chicago. He had four years at the University of Valparaiso. Mr. Mack says this boy married a rich nurse.

One boy who studied to be a lawyer lost his health after his graduation from the University of Minnesota law school, so could not practice, and is now employed as chief of the Minnesota state fish and game commission, with headquarters at St. Paul.

Self educated and quiet, Mr. Mack would not be thought responsible for one of the most unusual philanthropies in the world.

NO PAINTER'S COLIC FOR HIM.

Bill For "Tint" Makes Bachelor Issue Leap Year Declaration.

Elwood, N. J.—Robert W. Hunt, a retired college instructor, received a letter recently from a neighboring town containing a bill for 40 cents for "tint" purchased by "Mrs. Hunt." Hunt is a good looking bachelor with a steady income, and the inquisitive element of Elwood at once interpreted the post-office bulletin in terms of leap year possibilities.

To quiet the buzzing gossip, Hunt has issued the following statement:

"We have had several offers of marriage, and one or two ladies have assumed we were engaged without making any offer, and it is with fear and trembling we pass each day of this year, which is divisible by four. However, when Mrs. Hunt does arrive she shall come as nature painted her, with eyes like the heavens, with cheeks like the rose and with lips like the damp of crushed strawberry. She shall have no need of 'tint.' When we want a kiss we don't propose to mess through two or three coats of paint to get it."

Dogs Tree Insane Man.

Oregon City, Ore.—Peter Brevio, aged forty-three, an Italian, was freed with the aid of bloodhounds arrested and brought back to Oregon City and committed to the State Hospital for the Insane. Brevio lived in a hollow tree, and his diet consisted of roots, berries, and what he could find around neighboring farmhouses. He stole an axe from a farmhouse and passed much of his time chopping down trees. A number of men of the district determined to arrest Brevio and went to his tree home. The Italian ran away. Dogs were then put on his trail.

THE NEW TEMPERANCE DRINK

PABLO

"You Can't Tell the Difference"

That is what they all say regarding Pablo, the new non-alcoholic beverage we are now offering to the trade. Pablo is an unfermented beverage does not contain malt and is absolutely non-alcoholic. It is not a near-beer and should not be confused with the many so-called temperance drinks now being marketed that are really nothing more than fermented malt beverages, with a percentage of the alcohol extracted, the sale of which is liable to be accompanied by risk of prosecution.

Wherever Pablo has been introduced it has met with almost instant favor and popularity, proving to be a good temperance drink. As compared with other soft drinks, Pablo is in a class by itself—a drink with character and snap to it. It is of a sparkling amber color and has that pleasing hop tang that is a never-failing, never-tiring delight to the taste and which at the same time makes it a refreshing healthful and invigorating beverage.
